→ Who do you want to read your book?

General Public
(Commercial Route)

Submit your synopsis and pitch to us via the usual submissions route (submissions@stormrhinopublishing.com). If accepted, you will be notified and taken through the next steps through to contract issue.

Payment and signing means work can begin! At this stage the Storm Rhino staff begin work on your publication. Why not buy a Storm Rhino title to see what we've done for other authors?

Once you've approved the proofs for the cover and interior an initial print run will be made. You will receive a complimentary copy your book and your work will be made available for sale via all sales channel available to the company at that time. This route does attract royalties for copies sold.

Congratulations! You've now published your book via the Commercial Route.

After the initial contract reaches termination, a renewal will be issued where you can decide whether to stay with Storm Rhino or not. We'd love to keep working with you and help you bring your literary dreams to life but we understand if you'd like to explore other opportunities as well.
